- Qualitative comments:
 - “Great class to open your eyes to various aspects of culture and society you may have never considered before. Not too much outside work--just a few reading assignments and journal entries plus a final paper--but a lot of good class (lecture/discussion) and a great classroom environment.”
 - “The course was very well thought out and touched on issues that most university classes would never even approach. The topic was very honest and used a variety of different readings that were incredibly insightful.”
